

TEACHER'S GUIDE FOR AGING SENSITIVITY CURRICULUM

Brought to you through a partnership of Manchester Regional Area Committee on Aging,
the Manchester School District and Seniors Count.
February 2007

Seniors Count is supported by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation through its Community Partnerships for Older Adults (CPFOA) national initiative.

INTRODUCTION

Your role as a teacher is vital in improving our youth's understanding of older adults and our community's commitment to older adults.

There are three objectives for this curriculum. After participating in the Aging Sensitivity Class, students should be able to:

1. Identify commonly held myths on aging.
2. Identify the realities of the aging process.
3. Be sensitive to the needs of older adults.

Before we get specific about the Curriculum, we would like to offer several tips:

1. The curriculum follows a format for the class, and it includes suggestions for remarks and instruction. But the curriculum is not intended to be used word-for-word. Therefore, we hope you will use your own expressions and examples or experiences.
2. We've found that students especially like to have a panel of elders in the class to answer questions. If you'd like to arrange for a panel, contact Manchester Regional Area Committee on Aging at 624-6533.
3. The agenda provides time limits for each activity during the session (a forty-five (45) minute version and a thirty (30) minute version). The suggested times are intended to be guidelines, however you need to stay pretty close to them, since there is a lot to do. You'll also want to be somewhat flexible since the group activities or discussions may run a few minutes over the limit.
4. If there are not enough sensory kits for each student, have them share in teams.
5. Seniors Count would appreciate feedback. Please have students complete the evaluation at the end of the class, and return to the below address.

We appreciate your investment of time, talent, and energy in this most important activity. Thank you.

CURRICULUM MATERIALS

NOTE TO TEACHERS: Before the class, make sure you have enough copies of the handouts for each student (we've included templates) and that the Sensory Kits are complete, including new cotton balls (which you will have to supply).

Classroom Handouts: (One per student – see Addendum for templates to copy)

1. Facts on Aging Quiz
2. Guidelines for Interaction with Older Adults
3. Page copied from phone book
4. Student Evaluation Form
5. ANSWERS to Facts about Aging Quiz

Sensory Kits (Be sure to collect them at end of class)

1. Sunglasses (smear with Vaseline)
2. Prescription Bottle containing beans (pretend pills)
3. Pair of Gloves
4. Cotton Balls (NOTE: at end of class, have students throw away used cotton balls and replace kit with 2 new cotton balls)

Blackboard & chalk, or flip chart & markers, or whiteboard & markers

WELCOME & INTRODUCTIONS

(Time: 10 minutes / 8 minutes)

Option 1 Option 2

1. Opening exercise:

- a. Write on the board/flip chart: “When you think of aging, what words come to mind?” Encourage students to speak their thoughts and that anything is OK to say. You should expect to hear words like “grey hair”, “geezer”, “senile”, “bad driver”, “serves chicken soup” etc.
- b. Record responses. Keep adding to list until you get over 20 responses.
- c. For 30-minute version: after above list is developed, review each word and ask students if it is a positive (+), negative (-) or neutral (+/-) word. Add up all the +’s, all the -’s and all the +/-’s. You should get more negatives than any other. You can then discuss concept of stereotypes.
 - i. Key points: a) assumption that everyone is like the stereotype (not true),
b) in other countries, such as Japan, the list would be VERY different because they honor their elders.
- d. For 45-minute version: ask class to tell you words that an adult would use to describe students. Again, get up to 20 words, and then rate them as positive, negative or neutral. Is what adults think about teenagers true? Compare the two lists of stereotypes and discuss the similarities/differences.

2. Now, introduce the students to the purpose of the class:

- a. The purpose of today’s class is to examine what you know and think about the elderly in our society. Hopefully, you will leave today with a better understanding of the myths and realities of aging.
- b. Note that each of us who comes into contact with older adults has a preconceived idea about what it means to age. We want to be sure that we know what a myth is and what a fact is.

FACTS ABOUT AGING: QUIZ

(Time: 5 minutes)

1. Have students complete the Facts About Aging Quiz
2. Tell them you will review correct answers at end of class. (See Answer Sheet pg. 12 & 13)

EXPERIENCING: BUILDING AWARENESS

(Time 20 minutes / 10 minutes)

Option 1 Option 2

1. Distribute Sensory Kits: (If there aren't enough for one per student, class can work in teams of 3 – 5.)
2. Introduce this section by giving a brief overview of what will occur: Students will experience what it is like to be an older adult. They will experience aspects of the aging process, including sight, touch/dexterity and hearing.
3. Give following instructions to students:
 - Put on gloves (Tell students this simulates the decreased sensation of touch and dexterity.)
 - With the gloves on, put cotton balls in ears (This simulates decreased hearing)
 - Next put on sunglasses (these have already been smeared with Vaseline) (This simulates vision problems such as cataracts, macular degeneration, glaucoma, etc.)
 - Now instruct students to:
 1. Open Prescription Container and take out one “pill” or button. (tell students that they should not just dump them on the table, but instead try to use gloved finger to get pill out.(Speak these directions softly while turning away from students as your finish – all while talking fast! – this will frustrate the students, but simulates the difficulty seniors have with hearing).
 2. Take out your cell phone. (If a student doesn't have one, they can share with other students). Look at the page copied from the phone book. (Do NOT take off the glasses or gloves!) Find the phone number for Lee's Fitness Center. Dial the number but do NOT press send!

DISCUSSION POINTS:

- Certainly, not every senior has impairment in every sense, but the natural aging process does bring about changes in eyesight, hearing, and dexterity.
- Ask the students how they felt doing these tasks. Did this change how they viewed elders? Explain how?
- Examples could be 1) now they understand why small writing is so frustrating to their grandparents; or 2) why it is now more understandable why an elder in line at the grocery store may struggle with getting coins out of their wallets, or 3) why students must articulate and speak clearly to their elderly next door neighbor.

GUIDELINES FOR INTERACTION WITH OLDER ADULTS

(Time: 5 minutes/ 4 minutes)

Option 1 Option 2

1. Distribute the Guidelines for Interaction with Older Adults.
2. Indicate that these guidelines will provide students with tips for interaction with older adults.
3. Briefly point out that these guidelines encompass the sensory exercises students earlier experienced.
4. Take a moment to summarize the guidelines and encourage students to review them in detail on their own.

CLOSING REMARKS

(Time: 5 minutes / 3 minutes)

Option 1 Option 2

1. Reiterate the importance of learning about older people in our community.
 - a. They are our neighbors, our grandparents, our aunts/uncles.
 - b. Our community is richer because seniors live among us.
 - c. Seniors have much to offer:
 - i. This generation put a man on the moon; invented technology leading to the computer age; lead major advances in healthcare... They did much and still are contributing!
 - ii. They offer guidance and mentoring; a sense of generations; a helping hand and kind heart.
 - iii. They have great stories of the past which provide a lessons in history
 - iv. They volunteer time in the community (hospitals, soup kitchens, etc.)
2. Review the correct answers for the Quiz (see page 12 & 13).
3. Review the objectives of the workshop:
 - a. To identify commonly held myths on aging,
 - b. To identify the realities of the aging process
 - c. To help us be sensitive to the needs of older adults throughout our community.
4. Encourage students to volunteer in our community to help the elderly. They can: shovel walkways, visit seniors, do errands, etc.
5. If students wish to learn how they can volunteer for Seniors Count, they can go to www.seniorscountnh.org
6. If students want to learn more about any senior topics, they can Google 'aging' or 'seniors'.
7. Have students complete EVALUATION before leaving class. You will collect them and send to:

Facts on Aging With ANSWERS

- T F 1. The majority of old people (past age 65) are senile (i.e. have bad memory, are confused, or mentally ill). (False. In 70's – 2-3%, 80's – 5-10%, 90's – 20-30%. And senile is not a medical diagnosis anymore!)
- T F 2. All five senses (sight, hearing, touch, taste and smell) get worse as people get older. (True. Usually touch is the last to go.)
- T F 3. Most old people have no interest in, or capacity for, sexual relations. (False.)
- T F 4. Lung capacity tends to decline in old age. (True. It's capacity that declines.)
- T F 5. Most old people feel miserable most of the time. (False. Less than 25% reported “this is the dreariest time of my life.”)
- T F 6. Older people are not as strong as young people. (True.)
- T F 7. At least 1/10 of old people live in nursing homes, mental hospitals and old peoples' homes. (False. 5% is correct, or 1/20th).
- T F 8. Older drivers have fewer accidents than drivers under age 65. (True. Why? Because they drive less, are more cautious. But they have more fatal crashes than drivers under 65.)
- T F 9. Most older workers aren't as good as younger workers. (False. They may not have the speed of younger employees, but they make up for it in quality, experience, etc.)

- T F 10. It is almost impossible for most old people to learn new things. (False.)
- T F 11. The reaction time of most old people tends to be slower than reaction time of younger people. (True.)
- T F 12. In general, most old people are pretty much alike. (False. The differences remain the same throughout the life span. If you're grouchy when you're young, you're grouchy when you're old.)
- T F 13. Suicide is mainly a problem for teenagers and seldom happens to older adults. (False. Suicide is most prevalent among people 65 and older. The highest percentage is males over age 85.)
- T F 14. The majority of older people have incomes below the poverty level (as defined by the federal government). (False)
- T F 15. Inactivity and lack of exercise slow us down more than age. (True. "If you live an Archie Bunker lifestyle, you age at 2% per year. If you are active you age at 1/2% per year.")

ADDENDUM

The following sheets should be copied (1 per student) and distributed at the beginning of class along with the sensory kits.

Guidelines for Interaction with Older Adults

Aging is a normal process and certain physical changes occur in everyone as they age. We need to be aware of these changes in order to treat older adults in a respectful way.

1. SIGHT

Sight may be affected as a result of decreased elasticity and increased cloudiness of the lens in the eye. These changes cause:

- ~ Increased sensitivity to glare.
- ~ Increased need for illumination and contrast.
- ~ Decreased adaptability to changes in light.
- ~ Altered color vision (decreased ability to distinguish blue and green).

Example:

Older adults may have difficulty with parking in a public parking garage and/or finding their cars because of the drastic change in light.

Approach:

A person who enters a building from the sunlight outdoors needs time for his/her eyes to adjust to the differences in light. Be sensitive to these needs and allow the older adult time to adjust.

Approach the person in a friendly and courteous manner. Smile and make eye contact with the person.

Be patient.

2. HEARING

As people age, a variety of physical changes can occur in the auditory (hearing) system which can result in hearing loss and/or inability to understand speech. There may be a decreased sensitivity to high-pitched sounds, causing distortions of what is heard.

Example:

The sounds most affected are s, t, th, ch, sh, c and k. Therefore, "The next test is a chest x-ray," may sound like- "-e ne-- I- a --e-- -ray."

Approach:

Face the person when speaking to him/her. Speak directly to the person. Speak slowly, clearly and distinctly but not necessarily louder.

If you have a high-pitched voice, lower the pitch. Give directions clearly. Have the person repeat your message, if appropriate, so that you know he/she understands. Eliminate background noise whenever possible.

3. TOUCH

Older adults may experience a loss of sensation on the palms of their hands and/or soles of their feet due to impaired circulation. Loss of sensation causes a reduced ability to perceive hot, cold, vibration and pressure. A higher threshold of a sensation is required in order to perceive hot, cold, vibration and pressure.

Example:

The lack of w\sensation on the palms of their hands may cause rec\duced satisfaction in a handshake.

Approach:

When shaking hands with the older adult, increase the degree of sensation by using both of your hands. Use one hand to grasp the older adult's hand in the usual handshake manner and the other to rest firmly on the top of his/her hand.

4. MOBILITY

Changes occur as a result of gravity. Muscles become smaller, joints begin to wear and the space between the vertebrae decreases. All of these changes and a gradual loss of calcium levels may create:

- ~ Posture changes
- ~ Height reductions
- ~ Shortened and more cautious (slow) gait

Example:

An older adult will take more time getting in and out of chairs, and on and off an elevator.

Approach:

Be sensitive to the person's feelings and/or physical needs. Offer appropriate help to persons with physical limitations.

Do not appear rushed. Take the time necessary to make sure the person is comfortable with the assistance you have offered.

If the person requires further help, seek appropriate personnel.
